Hate mail terror

d e a r m i c h a e l

A MAN obsessed with TV presenter Michaela Strachan sent her postcards suggesting he might kill her, a court heard yesterday.

The message on the card read: 'Now will the no-marks of No Ideas TV give my words to Michaela Strachan - work it out for yourself.'

'The tone of the letters up until this point showed that he was obsessive and getting quite depraved.'

On the back of the envelope were the words: 'A bullet to the brain, momentary pain and the spirit is released. The bird landed not two feet from me.'

On the back were the words: 'I apply my knife with the precision of a brain surgeon. Unless.'

Dear Michaela, just a word, from a frantic follower as yet unheard.
Please find enclosed the latest issue,
sealed with a loving semen tissue.
Nothing ventured, noting gained, nothing censored, nothing stained.
Don't think Michaela, "Just another fan",
It's a beat surrender for another beaten man.

Dear Michaela, there's a different theme,
it's a different letter from a different dream.
A word of warning that you fail to heed,
An infatuation and things I need.
You see Michaela, I've been so depressed,
now the "Hitmans" bleeding from the face and chest.
Freeze the action on the girlie dress,
paws on the pause of another VHS.

Dear Michaela, I've got so much to say,
turn the Yellow Pages and then walk away,
Walk away, then begin to smile,
At the sex offender and the paedophile.
The sticky fingers of self abuse,
wrap round your neck as I call a truce.
Death threats, chainmail letter games,
won't you do the same to these familiar names.

Innocent Child

Young Sheffield Heavy Metale band Innocent Child have been 'rocked' by a series of stunning blows in recent weeks. The turmoil began when 13 yera old singer/guitarist 'Little Bastard' recently took an overdose of mojos, and in true Rock 'n' Roll style was promptly carted of to the Andy Fjord clinic for 'drying out' therapy. The brave rockers, however, battled on and played live on his return. Unfortunately, after the 'gig', the school hobbies swooped on the bands HQ and seized a massive haul believing to contain over 2,000 bags of KP salted nuts and over 50 cases of Vinto.

Debbie McCee, the wife of Britain's top Magician Paul Daniels (below), is rumoured to have left the Daniels home and moved into a hippy commune in Handsworth, Sheffield with ex-Muzzle Club guitarist Johnny Hanson.

Ms McCee declined to comment, but a close friend confided, "Debbie finds bald men sexy, and she's left Paul because he more hair than Johnny. She also couldn't help but laugh at that bloody stupid toupe as well!"
